Foreword

This manual presents the elements of LabBook accessible via the "Quality" and "Nonconformity" menus. If you do not have access to any of the actions via your interface, please contact your administrator so that these rights can be assigned to you.

General

The "Export data" button allows you to export the data from the listing above. The export can be done in different formats: CSV.

Access to the menus

Access is through the top banner:

This quality module allows you to record a large amount of information about your laboratory to monitor a number of indicators.

General

Gen	eral
Number of staff in the laboratory	10
Number of manuals saved	18
Date of last team meeting
Number of non-conformities in progress
Number of non-conformities since one month	1

This screen shows you some indicators.

This page allows you to load the organization chart of your laboratory. It will then allow you to assign your teams in each section. You can edit the sections which allows you to add, archive or delete them. Be careful, the deletion is final.

If needed, you can upload several files of your flowchart (in pdf, ppt, doc...) in the document case.

Staff

This screen allows you to see all the people authorized to connect to the software.

The fields marked "click to start a search" are search fields that are linked to other information entered in the software. For example, the "Person in charge" field allows you to link to one of the people entered in the "Personnel" section.

When you add the list of breakdowns/repairs and the Preventive Maintenance, this information will be automatically transcribed in the table (with the date and the user after the equipment has been registered):

This interface lists the non-conformities declared in the software. The filter tool allows you to visualize the non-conformities over a precise period. If necessary, this data can be exported.

The declaration of a non-conformity can be done by clicking on "Add a non-conformity" but it is more logical to be able to click directly on the "Non-conformity" icon in the banner at the top of the page. All LabBook roles can trigger a nonconformity and see them in this list, but only authorized roles can track, close or delete them.

This interface allows you to note all the meetings that have taken place in the laboratory. The minutes can be loaded into the application and retrieved by clicking on the appropriate icon.

Declaration of a non-conformity

By clicking on the icon the declaration of a non-conformity is possible for the authorized personnel.

The form that opens allows you to describe the type of non-conformity, its impact on the laboratory and the elements put in place to resolve this non-conformity.
